FOR THE THIRD

Over $2,000 in the Children's Summer Camp Fund.

A Good Start Made on the Next Stage of the Journey.

ALL THE BIRDS AND DOGS ARE CHARITABLE WILL GIVE AND NEED.

Mrs. Kate Broadhead, Concert in Aid of the Fund at Mahler's Hall Monday Evening. A Society Event—Where Tickets Can Be Obtained—Fruit and Produce Men Add Their Dollars—A Generous Contribution from the Sheriff's Office.

Less than two weeks from to-day the first of the summer camp will be taken from their homes in the tenements of St. Louis to the forest and well as the view of the mountains.

Arrangements for the inauguration of the summer camp where the little ones are to be nursed back to health are being rapidly forwarded. All that is needed for the complete success of the plan is money.

Two thousand dollars is a good round sum, but much more is needed to back the enterprise so well that there will never be a question of funds when the opportunity for doing good is presented.

There are hundreds of children who are already beginning to fade in the overheated, overcrowded, under-lighted and poorly drained dens to which the desperately poor are consigned. In July's torrid weather they will die if no relief is afforded them.

These persons might as well sink satisfaction in their cotting if they left behind the means for the taking of sick children out of their barracks homes to the beautiful cool places. If they enabled the Post-Dispatch to save the babies and strengthen the mothers.

Contributions come in every mail from children and their parents from St. Louis and away from home and those who being here have had a chance to know how the other half lives and the infants die for want of fresh air in summer time.

In aid of this great work a concert—the last evening of the season—is to be given at Mahler's Hall on Monday evening. It will be under the direction of Mrs. Kate Broadhead, whose musicals have at the close of each season awakened the enthusiastic praise of all lovers of music.

The following ladies and gentlemen have given their cordial support to the concert: Mrs. J. J. Scanlan, Mrs. George Carpenter, Mrs. J. T. Drummond, Mrs. Wayne McCready, Mrs. Will Scudder, Mrs. Charles McCready, Mrs. John Copple, E. D. Doster, Max Kotany, ex-Gov. D. R. Francis, Wm. O. Little, Judge James A. Seddon, Frank Little and Charles Gregory.

All the money realized from the sale of tickets will go into the fund for the benefit of the children's summer camp. Tickets are for sale at the following places: Post-Dispatch counting-room, Alexander's Drug Store, 518 Olive street, Mitchell's Restaurant, 314 North Broadway, Addition's, Seventh and Olive streets, Marmaduke and Jewell Jewelry Co., Broadway and Locust streets, Hollman Bros., Music Store, Olive and Eleventh streets, Bett's Book Store, 805 Olive street, Jess Hotel, West End Hotel, Thos. Milby's Drug Store, 3801 Washington avenue, Paul Fiquet's Drug Store, 337 Piney avenue.

GREENHOUSE FRUIT AND PRODUCE MEN. At noon to-day John Cochran, the caller on the fruit and produce exchange, Third street and Franklin avenue, used his voice to exhort the members of the exchange to present that business would be suspended that they might have an opportunity to contribute to the Children's Summer Camp Fund. His announcement was applauded, and in a few minutes the following contributions were taken in:

It was later turned in the fund: Hollman's, H. C. Co., 100 Olive and Richmond, $1.00; Humphrey, J. C., 100 Olive and Richmond, $1.00; Lambert & Lamb, 100 Olive and Richmond, $1.00; Templeman, W. OT CORNER.

But the Postal Clerks Would Swear.
If you have any reason to suspect that the letters you write to any particular person are tampered with there is a very simple ally, which involves far less trouble than using wax, matches and a seal. Fasten your envelope in the ordinary way and then write your address and put the stamp on the back instead of the front. However carefully the envelope may be opened it will be impossible to stick the flap down again so that the ends and edges of the letters will be in as they did before. For even the smallest inference is sufficient for the most inexperienced detective to see that the missive has been tampered with.

To Wrap Shoes In.

A 15-inch square of red cheese cloth, with arrow-bristled hem, and two strings of worsted thread sewed across one corner, will be found very useful. When you get to where you are to sell, when one learns to wrap up shoes, or to wrap a bag or trunk the fall of the cloth, as the notice appears, shoes are the best thing to wrap. The cloth is papered, the soft cotton wraps them close, and strings keep them in place gracefully.

The illustration shows two parasols. The one on the left is partially open, revealing a dark interior with a light-colored, possibly lace or embroidered, pattern. The one on the right is fully open, showing a light-colored canopy with a dark, possibly lace or embroidered, pattern. Both parasols have long, dark handles and are decorated with ribbons and lace. The background is plain white.

Now shall I describe that Reure whose appearance brought me bolt upright in my rail, staring and shuddering?

It seemed to be a man of mature years, tall, thin, tall, and with a head of white hair, some of a past age. Yes, there were the long-crested black velvet coat, with huge cut-steel buttons, and a pair of breeches with large pockets, the knee breeches, white stockings and shoes with silver buckles, the powdered wig and the lace ruffles falling over the face, lean hands.

But the face!—how shall I picture to you

"The colorless lips, the hooked nose, the low, parchment-like complexion—and the gleam of the teeth, the gleam of the spark in their depths; merciless, merciless!—I could not have believed that I might give to a dead! Gentlemen," said Underlin, drawing a deep breath, "be seated, please. I have no objection to men, but when those eyes met mine I felt the very soul within me shrivel up with terror."

"The figure, closing the door behind him, drew toward the middle of the room and then, with his hand on the door, he drew an ancient pack of cards from a pocket and dealt them out. He then invited me to approach the table. I obeyed chancily. "This is a dream," I kept repeating to myself. "I am afraid I am," he answered, and then he looked at my eyes, shifted myself in the chair, and crossed and uncrossed my legs. To no purpose. I could not move."

"Do you play Lasquetun, sir?" The thin man moved with the words, but the voice ments of my pocket-book scattered about, and I was obliged to leave it not only to the care of my last night's visitor, but to the hands of a negro and staggered to the door, which I opened with a great effort. A fresh thrill of horror was bolted on the inside, admitted my friend, and I was back in my room, with my back to the door and my eyes on the features. I put him on as he was my first explanation and was completely puzzled. He came in on the lower portion of the building.

And nothing about my terrifying experience of the morning before. I was during my stay in the house, I gathered some hints concerning an ancestor who had been killed by a snake, and I had seen his life in the very room where I had passed the night.

"The explanation of my experience I leave to you, gentlemen," concluded Vanderburg, "but this I can say: I have no available authorities to cards, whether they have hallucinations or whether an especial effort to see to it that I should not be disturbed."

BLAZES AND SINNERS.

Over 300,000 Tons of Coal Slowly Becoming Useless Cinders.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 17.—Three torrid mountains of coal still blaze and simmer at the storage yard of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal Co., where the fire occurred a week ago, and 300,000 tons of hard coal is resolving itself into mountains of useless cinders. The aspect of the scene is one of desolation. Fifteen acres of ground are covered with the charred and blackened ruins of timbers, cars, outcrops, offices and scale platforms. It is impossible to do anything to save the coal that has not yet caught fire, except by carrying it away. An extra switch line capable of holding forty cars, has been run from the main yard to the burning coal mountain and large forces of men are working day and night filling cars and sending them out on the main tracks, but not more than 10,000 tons can possibly be saved. The fire has worked its way under the piles and every little while an avalanche of good coal will rush down from the top showing a bed of redened coal beneath. Forty thousand tons, representing $200,000, will be consumed. Besides the loss on the coal and shed there is also the loss of sixty freight cars. Twenty of these cars were killed by Reading, and the other forty by other lines, and these latter the company will have to pay for. It is some method of extinguishing the fire in the coal pile which will probably burn and smolder for months.

SUMMER RESIDENCE BURNED.
SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, Mass., June 17.—The handsome unfinished summer residence of Robert G. Shaw on Elliott street was almost wholly burned last night. The building, which has been under construction for months and its cost when completed would have been $100,000. The loss is about $50,000, covered by insurance.

COAL BREAKER DESTROYED.
PORTVILLE, Pa., June 17.—The coal breaker of the Midland Valley Coal Co., located near Mount Carmel, was destroyed by fire last evening.

Information for Summer Tourists.
Under the title of "Health and Pleasure," the passenger department of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad has issued one of the handsomest and most useful of the books of American summer resorts and places of interest ever published. The book, of over 400 pages, is put up in attractive covers, illuminated in green and gold. Starting with such nearby and familiar places of beauty and pleasure as the Adirondacks, it goes on to describe the most beautiful and interesting towns and villages that lie within the Hudson Valley, the book includes in its description every point of interest between New York and the Golden Gate, besides giving a very entertaining chapter on travel in Japan.

The descriptions are brief, but breezy, and entirely free from the flamboyant, town-booming phrases so often met with in works of this sort. The reading matter is made more effective and the interest intensified by many well chosen and appropriate reproductions. The maps and other geographical work are well executed and the cost of travel, railroad fares, hotel expenses, etc., are all grouped in tabular form in one chapter for easy reference. Many of the finest illustrations are reproduced in color, and the book is a most valuable and useful work for the tourist.

ASSAULTED JUDGE MORRIS.

Mollie McGinty Tries to Pull Out His Whiskers.

The First District Police Court was the scene of quite a commotion to-day, caused by an attempted assault on Judge Morris by Mollie McGinty, whom he had fined for disturbing the peace. Mollie is an old time and was arrested early this morning for creating a disturbance in a saloon at Tenth and Market streets. After the testimony had been given in the case Judge Morris called to the stand the woman to make her statement. She asserted her entire innocence of the charge, and appealed to the court for justice. Ten dollars, said the Judge, taking up his pen to enter the fine. "Ye old, grey-headed judge," said Mollie, springing from her seat and making a grab for the Judge's whiskers, falling in the process. The court marshals secured her, however, before she could throw the weight and hustled her off to the "cage."

THE ORIOLE.
The Beautiful Bird's Nesting Habits and Home Life.

From Scribner's Magazine.
The Baltimore oriole deserves a longer notice. He is a prince in a house of princes. He is a bird of remarkable color, plumage, note, nest, egg or habit. Each can claim something curious and original; but the Baltimore shines in every one of these particulars.

For its plumage, song and nest alike he is a peculiarly remarkable bird. When the Earl of Maryland first saw the oriole, he was so struck by its beauty and its song, that he immediately ordered a number of them to be sent to him, and he has since been a great admirer of the bird.

The Baltimore oriole is a very beautiful bird. It has a bright orange-red head and back, with a black cap and a black throat. Its wings are black, and its tail is black with a white tip. Its legs are black, and its feet are black. Its voice is a sweet, clear, ringing note, which it repeats again and again.

HILL WILL NOT GO.

The sub-committee on Immigration Will Have to Get Along Without Him.

New York, June 17.—A close friend of Senator David H. Hill told a reporter yesterday that the senator had abandoned his intention to go West as chairman of the sub-committee on Immigration, instructed to inquire into the evasion of the law by the Chinese Six Companies, and as a member of the committee on Territories, delegated to inquire into the advisability of admitting New Mexico, Arizona and Utah to statehood. In explaining the senator's reason for not going he said:

"The senator has received letters and telegrams from all over the West begging him to name dates on which he will be a guest at dinners, receptions and other demonstrations in his honor. These letters are so numerous that he has concluded his acceptance would be tantamount to a declaration of war. People would say he was hunting for a presidential nomination and proposed to show himself off. Rather than place himself in that attitude Senator Hill has decided to remain in the East and attend to his law practice."

We gather the fact from clothing buyers wandering into our store that outside of our house good summer suits are hard to find.

We have plenty of them, not only for $25, but for $20, $15 and $10. We are selling lots of suits in our Clothing Department.

Mrs. U. S. Grant and Mrs. Jefferson Davis soon to meet.
New York, June 17.—Mrs. U. S. Grant and Mrs. Jefferson Davis, the wives of the two great leaders, will exchange their first greetings at Cranston's on the Hudson, which is the site of the West Point Military Academy. The place has many guests dear to the hearts of both, as their husbands were graduates of the academy. Mrs. Grant is now a guest at Cranston's, and Mrs. Davis will stop at the same place.
The two ladies will thus meet every day. Mrs. Grant, in speaking of Mrs. Davis, intended visit, said that she hoped she would not disappoint her as she did last year. She is very anxious to become acquainted with her. Mrs. Davis and her daughter are at the hotel Marlborough and will remain until the early next week, when they will go to Cranston's. ACTIVE VOLCANOES.

Four of Them Belching North Fire, Lava and Smoke.

SEATTLE, June 17.—The steamer City of Topeka, from Alaska, reports that the steamer Crescent City of the Northern American Commercial Co., running between Sitka and the Aleutian Islands, during a cruise among the islands sighted four volcanoes in active eruption. One was Mount Katashin, 5,474 feet high, which comes down to the sea in rolling foot hills, and has a number of Indian villages about its base. It belched forth sulphurous contents in a column which rose to a height of 2,000 feet above the crater. Three other spectacles of the same nature were witnessed on other islands. Smoke and fire were seen issuing from a huge mountain on the enchanted island of Akutan. On Unimak Island an old volcano supposed to have become permanently extinct was in a violent state of eruption. It is 8,903 feet in altitude, and is known as Pogromundia. It belched forth a harmless mass of excited earth, but is now a volcano, resembling in intensity the anticipated this. Still, still, another active volcano on Unimak Island was seen from a distance.

The Coney Island Club Officials Looking for Jack Dempsey.

"Lost, strayed or stolen—once middleweight pugilist, of blonde complexion, with mild blue eyes. Answers to the name of Jack Dempsey. Any information regarding the above cheerfully received by the Coney Island Athletic Club." Such an advertisement, printed on a thousand post cards and mailed to the most prominent sporting resorts throughout the country, might develop some tangible evidence as to the whereabouts of the once invincible "Kid" of New York boxer. Less than six weeks remain for the engagement Dempsey made to meet Billy Smith at the island, and he is practically "dead to the world."

John J. Schmitt, official referee of the club, believes that Dempsey will appear at the proper time. All sorts of rumors are about ahead ahead Dempsey. The latest is that he is stricken with kidney trouble and will never again pull a boxing glove on. It is altogether too uncomfortably close to the date of his engagement at Coney Island, July 24, to daily any longer with the true facts in the case.

TALEQUAN, I.T., June 17.—The Starr gang, who have been for the past week attending to the wounded member of the party at the Oaks, a small post-office between here and Sloom, leaders, have escaped and passed over the line into the Creek Nation. Henry Starr, the leader, left the party immediately after the Bentonville spoils had been divided. Two nights ago he visited his mother at Nowata, on the Missouri Pacific Railroad. The place was full of deputy marshals, but his arrest was not attempted. Marshal Grump of Fort Smith telegraphed Editor H. E. Liven of the Cherokee, telephone to arrest the crowd if possible. Liven never fired a gun in his life and the dispatch is looked upon as a joke. At noon yesterday word received from Fort Smith that Charley, one of the gang, had been arrested by United States Deputy Marshal Fenton Talbot.
